

HANCOCK HORIZON DYNAMIC ASSET ALLOCATION FUND

INSTITUTIONAL CLASS: HDAIX

INVESTOR CLASS: HDAAX

INVESTMENT FOCUS

The Fund seeks long-term capital appreciation and strives to manage volatility by identifying and investing in trends of over 20 asset classes.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The Fund follows a systematic approach that rebalances periodically by purchasing exchange traded securities in equities, fixed income and alternative asset classes that display positive trends, and selling assets that show negative trends.

ABOUT THE HANCOCK HORIZON FUNDS

Hancock Horizon Funds, founded in 2000, managed over $734 million in assets as of September 30, 2019 in equity, state specific income, and liquid alternative funds. Hancock Horizon Funds manages 10 different funds for our clients.

Carefully consider the Funds' investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses before investing. This and other information, including performance, can be found in the Funds' summary or full prospectus, which may be obtained at www.hancockhorizonfunds.com or 800-990-2434. Please read the prospectus carefully before you invest or send money.

Mutual fund investing involves risk, including possible loss of principal. Current and future holdings are subject to risk. Capital gains, if any, are subject to capital gains tax. There is no guarantee the Fund will achieve its stated objective. In addition to the normal risks associated with investing, REIT investments are subject to changes in economic conditions, credit risk and interest rate fluctuations. Bonds and bond funds are subject to interest rate risk and will decline in value as interest rates rise. Mortgage-backed securities are subject to prepayment and extension risk and therefore react differently to changes in interest rates than other bonds. Small movements in interest rates may quickly and significantly reduce the value of certain mortgage-backed securities. High yield bonds involve greater risks of default or downgrade and are more volatile than investment grade securities, due to the speculative nature of their investments. International investments may involve risk of capital loss from unfavorable fluctuation in currency values, from differences in generally accepted accounting principals or from social, economic or political instability in other nations. In addition to international investments, securities focusing on a single country may be subject to higher volatility. In emerging markets, these risks are heightened. The Fund's investments in Underlying ETFs will subject it to substantially the same risks as those associated with the direct ownership of the securities held by such Underlying ETFs, and the Fund's investments in Underlying ETNs will subject it to credit risk. An investment in the fund is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency.

MLP's interests are all in a particular industry and the MLP will be negatively impacted by economic events adversely impacting that industry. The risks of investing in a MLP are generally those involved in investing in a partnership as opposed to a corporation, such as a limited control of management, limited voting rights and tax risks. MLP's may be subject to state taxation in certain jurisdictions, which will have the effect of reducing the amount of income paid by the MLP to its investors. Further, if the MLP is deemed to be a corporation then its income would be subject to federal taxation at the entity level, reducing the amount of cash available for distribution to the fund which could result in a reduction of the fund's value. The potential benefits of investing in MLPs depend on them being treated as partnerships for federal income tax purposes.

The Fund may invest in derivatives, which are often more volatile than other investments and may magnify the Fund's gains or losses. Diversification may not protect against market risk. Investments in commodities are subject to higher volatility than more traditional investments. Please read the prospectus carefully to obtain a complete understanding of the risks.
